Flood-Stricken States Get Promise of Prompt Federal Aid After Survey by Truman

Kansas City, Mo., July 18—(AP)—The Mississippi river's turbulent waters mounted steadily at St. Louis and along the eastern edge of Missouri today, threatening additional widespread damage.

Situation at St. Louis Is Becoming Increasingly Worse

St. Louis, Mo., July 18—(AP)—Emergency crews worked feverishly today to bulwark dikes and check rising water that already has caused a loss of nearly $1,000,000 to factories and rail yards in immediate vicinity.

Four hundred residents of West town, Mo., and vicinity ignored warnings to evacuate their low-lying homes as army engineers, set guardsmen and other workers abandoned efforts to strengthen dikes to the point where they did hold back the torrents.

As St. Louis was bracing for the flood, already the nation's costliest, President Truman made a first hand aerial survey of conditions, and the federal government asked efforts to rehabilitate vast areas of Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma.

O. P. Legislators Look With Favor In Dem Suggestion for Real Estate Tax

Harrisburg, July 18—(AP)—Two Republican lawmakers looked favorably today on a Democratic suggestion for taxing real estate.

The levy, proposed by Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, as greeted by Sen. John M. Walker, Republican floor leader, and Graybill Diehm (R-Lancaster), as a possible means of helping to solve the commonwealth's tax dilemma.

Under Dent's plan, real estate transfers would be taxed at the rate of 1 1/2 per cent of the amount of money involved in the sale.

The state tax equalization board reported 1,300,000,000 in property owned hands in Pennsylvania.

at year. On that basis, a 1 1/2 per cent impost would bring in about 9,000,000 every two years.

Dent's proposal also carries a provision to return one-third of a revenue to the school districts.

Walker, although he has not been approached personally by the Democratic suggestion, declared that enactment of a real estate transfer levy would help fill a gap in Gov. John S. Fine's $220,000,000 budget for the next two years.

Meanwhile, Dent disclosed that a governor telephoned him about a so-called compromise tax program.

"I told him there was no compromise, but that the (Democratic) caucus had decided that this is the best possible way to break the whole thing up," said the Democratic senator.

Fine refused to confirm the telephone call except to say: "I am willing to talk to any senator, Republican or Democrat, out the tax program, any time, y where."

Fine's income tax proposal has been stalled in the senate since April after previously passing the house. Hopes to achieve a compromise among Republicans have been dashed repeatedly.

Although Walker and Diehm appeared to favor a real estate transfer tax, Sen. James S. Berger (R-Lancaster), Republican senate caucus chairman, shrugged off the idea.

"I don't think we can go off lock-on such a program," Berger, an administration supporter and a pro-income tax senator, said.

The Missouri river, which spread over thousands of acres in Missouri was pouring a torrent of water into the Mississippi. The two great rivers join north of St. Louis.

Much of the water was the runoff of Missouri and Kansas rivers that earlier had inundated an estimated 2,000,000 acres in the two states.

St. Louis waterfront business houses had their employees sand-bagging and moving merchandise to higher ground.

Washington, July 18—(AP)—President Truman today signed a bill providing $25,000,000 for relief work in the flood-ravaged middle west.

He acted less than 12 hours after his return from a flight over the stricken areas in Kansas, Oklahoma and his home state of Missouri.

The money will be used to help state and local governments to ease suffering and damage, with stress on health measures.

Mr. Truman originally asked for a $15,000,000 relief fund, but the house added it to $25,000,000 and the senate went along on that amount in completing action on the bill yesterday.

North of St. Louis residents of the threatened areas of West Alton, Mo., and Kaskaskia Island near Chester, Ill., had been warned to evacuate.

The Mississippi already has caused an estimated $1,000,000 damage downstream from St. Louis at Cape Girardeau in southeast Missouri.

Mr. Truman's flight yesterday was over Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma. In his party was Charles E. Wilson, defense mobilization chief.

Wilson said key federal agencies would work swiftly to alleviate "the awful conditions the flood has caused."

The president said on his return to Washington that he would sign an emergency bill providing funds (Turn to Page Eight)

Claims Store Teeth Stolen on Battlefield

Tokyo, July 18—(AP)—Pvt. Philip T. Giarraputo of Chicago, would like to get his hands on the Chinese soldier who stole his store teeth in Korea.

The Army reported today that Giarraputo had them safely tucked in his pack during a recent attack on a Korean hill. He left the pack when the Americans pulled back under a counterattack.

Later the Americans regained the hill. Giarraputo found his pack—but the teeth had been removed.

Death Toll From Demonstrations In Tehran Rises to 20

Tehran, Iran, July 18—(AP)—Iranian security officials today asked the U. S. embassy to ban advance announcements of movements of special envoy W. Averell Harriman in this uneasy city, because of the possibility of a new bloody Communist demonstration.

Newspapers said the death toll has risen to 20 persons with 300 injured in Sunday's anti-Harriman demonstration, staged on the arrival of President Truman's special ambassador. He was sent to try to work out a solution to the bitter British-Iranian oil dispute.

Three red painted radio-equipped jeeps filled with policemen have been escorting Harriman on visits to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh and other Iranian officials. Harriman planned to meet members of the Iranian senate later today.

Security officials broadcast a warning that mass meetings have been prohibited under martial law. Police announced 88 persons have been arrested in a roundup of leftist elements since the Sunday riots.

ROLLBACK ON BEEF PRICES IS SALVAGED

BULLETIN

Washington, July 18—(AP)—The house voted today to forbid price controls on meat which do not allow packers and processors a "reasonable" profit. The vote was 160 to 144 on an unrecorded teller count. The house action, subject to another vote later when a final rollback is taken, upset the administration forces that yesterday won a battle in the fight to save the beef price rollback.

Washington, July 18—(AP)—Administration forces in the house, having salvaged the ten per cent beef price rollback with strong Republican backing, drove today for quick passage of an economic controls extension.

But rough ground lay ahead. Still due for a decision—possibly today—is a proposal to curb the labor disputes powers of the Wage Stabilization Board, and to revise it so as to place the public members in the majority over labor and industry. Most unions oppose the idea.

Administration leaders were frankly uncertain of the outcome of the Wage Board amendment. At best, they predicted a close vote either way.

With the bitter price control fight out of the way, leaders put on the heat to wind up debate by tomorrow and send the measure to conference with the senate, which passed a different bill.

The vote to keep the beef rollback left the door open to similar rollbacks of some other agricultural prices and would place no restrictions on the government's (Turn to Page Eight)

Local Officers Head Surface Division Ranking First In District Inspection

Lt. Sidney W. Blackman, Commanding Officer of Jamestown's Organized Surface Division 3-68, U. S. Naval Reserve, announced to the organization at the regular meeting last night that the division had placed first out of 83 divisions in the Third Naval District competition.

According to Lt. Blackman, this information was received in a congratulatory letter from Admiral Walter S. DeLany, Commandant of the Third Naval District. The eighty-three Naval Reserve Surface Divisions located in the Third Naval District comprised of New York, Connecticut and part of New Jersey includes units in New York, Rochester, Buffalo, Jersey City and other large cities.

The annual District inspection was graded on training, administration, appearance and smartness of personnel as well as that intangible factor known as "esprit de Corps". As a result of standing first in the District, Division 3-68 will now represent the Third Naval District in the national inspection. This national inspection, which will begin very soon, will be among the district winners and will decide the winner of the James V. Forrestal Trophy. The trophy is presently held by Camden, New Jersey.

The Jamestown Division, which was established in 1946, meets every Tuesday night at the Naval Reserve Training Center for a two and one-half hour training session or "drill". In addition, each man must perform two weeks training duty aboard some ship or station each year. The present authorized strength of the unit is fifteen officers and two hundred and nine enlisted men. There are a few vacancies and recruits are being accepted at present.

Members of the division came from many communities in the New York-Pennsylvania area with Warren, North Warren, Sheffield, Tions, Russell, Clarendon and Kane being well represented. In addition to Lt. Blackman, two other officers are from Warren. Lt. (j. g.) W. Scott Calderwood is Lt. Blackman's Executive Officer and Lt. (j. g.) James Hengst is the Division Engineering Officer. Several officers and men of the Warren area who were former members of the division are now on active duty in the Navy. Lt. Blackman assumed command of the unit in January of this year.

The training center in Jamestown was dedicated in January of 1950 and provides complete facilities and equipment for training Navy recruits as radiomen, radar-men, electronics technicians, metallurgists, machinists and damage control specialists as well as regular recruit training.

The complaint charged that such claims tend to mislead and deceive the public and constitute unfair business competition "of a most serious nature."

John C. Wood, chairman of the board of the bureau, said today that the bureau sent its complaint to Washington July 9. Yesterday, he said, the bureau received an acknowledgment from James M. Mead, commission chairman and former senator from New York.

Mead's letter said the complaint had been referred to the commission's investigation bureau of anti-deceptive practices "for expeditious action" to determine whether such advertising "warrants corrective action by the commission."

Where it finds an unfair practice exists, the FTC can order the offender to cease, and may bring contempt action if the practice is continued.

Wood said the bureau had taken the matter up with the Trade Commission only after it had tried unsuccessfully to get merchants to discontinue voluntarily the advertising claims it held to be unfair.

Allied and Red Envoys Concur On Two Points of Agenda But Disagree Over the Major Issue

Seoul, Korea, July 18—(AP)—Allied and Red envoys agreed today on two points of the cease-fire agenda but a dispute over "at least one major point" is blocking the start of actual Korean war armistice negotiations.

The United Nations announced this tonight after negotiators returned from their longest session this week. It was the first report of agreement on any part of the agenda.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, head of the U. N. cease-fire team, accepted Communist wording for two agenda items at the close of Tuesday's conference, the announcement said.

When he did so, "the entire Communist delegation seemed to show gratification, perhaps mixed with a certain element of relief," said Brig. Gen. William Nuckols of the U. S. Air Force. Nuckols attended the session in Kaesong.

And when Admiral Joy presented the Allied view on the major unresolved question, Nuckols said, the two "Chinese members of the Communist delegation nodded and appeared to appreciate the United Nations viewpoint."

Neither Nuckols nor the formal headquarters announcement disclosed the points agreed upon in the sixth day of conferences. Nor did they say what was the major stumbling block to reaching a "mutually acceptable agenda."

But General Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander, described it as "essential" to the success of the cease-fire conference.

They are still trying to agree on the scope of actual cease-fire talks.

Observers on the outer fringe of the closely guarded conference chamber were talking about the possibility of a compromise to break the deadlock over the agenda. That is delaying actual cease-fire discussions.

Observers say that should the question of withdrawal of troops come to an impasse, a possible compromise might be for both sides to agree to a "limited withdrawal" involving the removal from Korea of part of the U. N. forces and a proportionate number of Chinese.

Best Eighth Army estimates place about 250,000 Chinese soldiers in the front lines or in immediate reserve. Another 250,000 are estimated to be farther back along the Korea-Manchuria border.

United Nations forces are about the same size. The bulk of Allied forces is composed of American infantry units and the Fifth Air Force.

In Washington the army announced no American soldiers were killed Tuesday, up to 5 p. m. It was the first such day since U. S. troops entered the war July 7, 1950.

Allied troops kept a close watch on a Red buildup northeast of the Kaesong conference site. Seven U. N. armored patrols probed Communist lines Tuesday.

Night flying Allied planes, in their second successive night of heavy strikes, reported considerable Red traffic on the highways. Marine planes and B-26 bombers (Turn to Page Eight)

Three emergency cases were treated at Warren General Hospital yesterday afternoon and evening. All were discharged after treatment. They included Marcus Briggs, 15 months old, of Russell, who fractured an elbow in a fall from a low table at his home; Fred Ziki, 24, of 109 Dartmouth street, who sustained lacerations requiring seven sutures on three toes of the left foot while on a picnic; and Charles DeVore, 81, of Saybrook, employed at Chapman Dam, who was x-rayed for a back injury.

Y Swimming Pool Is Popular Spot

The YMCA swimming pool has been a choice selection for "Y" boys during these hot summer days, and Monday was a good example when over 50 cadets and 40 juniors turned out for classes.

Today, classes were divided into swimming and instructional periods. The boys were given a slide film lecture on artificial respiration and using common sense in water rescue. "Y" leaders hope that by placing emphasis on these subjects, swimmers will use more caution in choosing their swimming holes.

On Monday, the cadets held several swimming relays, with the following winners in the Fish class free style races: Gilbert Hansen, first; Tom Watt, second; Ed Crittelli, third. Flying Fish class, Robert Swanson, first; Pat Madden, second; and Richard Terry, third. In junior competition, shark class, Dick Danielson came in first, Robert Stevens, second, and Mike Turner, third. Flying fish class—Ed Duffy, first, Peter Bova, second, and Chuck Steele, third.

Each Monday for the remainder of the summer program there will be special events in different aquatic races.

The cadets and juniors started their Attendance and Water Safety Contest Monday, and at the end of six weeks the boys with the best attendance and observance of the rules of water safety will be awarded YMCA Aquatic emblems for their efforts.

TODAY is pay day for all the folks who have classified ads.

It probably is not generally known that at all times 50 pints of blood, which YOU may have at some time donated through the Warren County Chapter of the American Red Cross, is kept on hand at the Warren General Hospital. Though it is sincerely hoped that YOU may never have need for any of this, it is yours for the asking when the need arises. The only charge to you is a laboratory fee and a service fee for the transfusion.

To assure a constant supply not only for your use but for your neighbor's boy who may be in the armed forces, won't you keep your appointment to donate blood next Wednesday, July 25, when the bloodmobile unit makes its regular visit at the Red Cross headquarters on Market street?

KILLED IN ACTION

A Venango county serviceman has been reported killed in action in Korea by the Department of Defense. He is Pfc. Daniel J. Raybuck, son of Mrs. Mary Raybuck of R. D. 3, Embleton.

ROUTINE ACTIVITIES

City police had no unusual calls last evening, answering only routine requests such as weed complaints and kids being nuisances. There were enough of these, however, to keep officers busy.

BALLOTS OUT

County Commissioners are delivering ballots around the county in preparation for next Tuesday's primary election. They expect to deliver today, Thursday and Friday outside Warren borough, and to place election supplies in the borough on Monday.

A program of handicrafts, swimming, nature hikes, folk dancing, photography classes, movies, and campfire sessions has been planned. Girls are asked to arrive at camp Sunday afternoon in time for registration at three p. m.

MILITARY PACT WITH FRANCO

According to J. M. Roberts, Jr., Associated Press news analyst, the French and British governments, in expressing disapproval of American plans for a military pact with Franco Spain, have merely acted for the record in their own internal political affairs.

The actual situation is not one of dispute. It is not one of those things which interferes with tri-power unity. The whole issue was threshed out and agreement reached long ago. The United States will make a deal with Franco if it can, and the British and French will be disassociated from the move.

British political opinion, both Conservative and Labor, is dead set against any association with what they call Franco Fascism. So are the French. It all goes back to the Spanish civil war. Neither government would dare face its constituents on a Franco deal.

If the United States wishes to make an agreement for the sake of expediency, however, London and Paris will throw no monkey wrenches. Aside from avoiding political involvement, all they wanted was assurance that an American pact with Spain would not mean a decrease in American arms aid for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. That assurance was given.

The U. S. has no intention of paying any great price for Spanish cooperation. Franco recently obtained a $62,500,000 loan. No further aid is contemplated now. He is reported willing to broaden the base of his government and take other steps to make his regime more palatable to western political circles. He can get a promise of American wars for refurbishing his army after current American obligations to NATO have been met—that means in two or three years—but not before.

The United States wants air and naval bases. Franco has a good army, but one which needs modern arms. In the air and naval departments he is woefully weak. The American proposal would supplement his defenses, and that's about all he would get out of it now.

MAPLE LEAF BLISTERS

Don't be too greatly disturbed if you notice blisters on the leaves of your maple trees, advises The Salamanca Press. Worried home owners in that area who have been sending such leaves to the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva, and seeking information and advice, are being told that serious harm is not likely to be done to the trees.

The blisters are the result of the feeding of tiny, almost microscopic mites, according to the entomologists. The mites appear very early in the spring and begin feeding on the new tissues just as the buds open. At this season they are imbedded in small, reddish blisters or galls on the upper surfaces of the leaves. Sometimes the blisters are so numerous as to disfigure the foliage.

Nothing can be done at this time of year to control the tiny insects, because they are now beyond the reach of insecticides. Control can be established only by the use of sprays applied early in the spring while the trees are still dormant. If you want to prevent such infestation next year, use lime-sulfur diluted at the rate of one part to nine to ten parts of water applied just as the first bud scales begin to separate.

North Warren loses another fine citizen in the passing of T. D. "Don" Cook, who has been associated with the business, civic, church and social life of that community for many years. He was a sociable, pleasant companion, honored and respected by his family, and held in high esteem by his friends and neighbors, in North Warren and Conewango township. In his passing he has left a deep impression with all who knew him.

Among the sad events chronicled in Tuesday's issue was the passing of Dr. Harry F. Clawson east side dentist, and a life-long resident of Warren. Down through the years Dr. Clawson had been a sturdy and capable citizen, a kind and indulgent father, and a man highly regarded by everyone who enjoyed the pleasure of his acquaintance.

The Silent Partner

Here And There

Ed Honhart, 1318 Pennsylvania avenue west, the only man who ever devised a way to make a river raft travel "upstream" without the aid of a mechanical propulsion, last evening at the Blue & White restaurant, played host to a number of friends and business people who helped him on his prize-winning craft which appeared in the Fourth of July celebration. It turned out to be a most entertaining and interesting session for the dozen folks in attendance, including two women, Miss Florence Kennett, and Mrs. Martha Hill Wilson. Ed had as one of the guests his brother Bob, also of this city, and they combined to convert the event into a "rivermen's reunion" that made it one that will never be forgotten by those present. Most of the talks of the two men dwelt on the rafting days of fifty years ago. They told about the arduous task of getting out the lumber, mostly pine and hemlock, how the old-time pilots studied the river stage and weather forecasts for "rafting stage," the hazards of running rafts when streams were too high or receding; the best points to tie up along the stream; the approximate time that the last raft went over Logan's dam near Pittsburgh, which was placed at about 1904; the barge industry that flourished at Grunderville where there were four large docks; the dimensions and construction of rafts and barges; equipping the shanty on the rafts; manning of the crafts; dangers of rafts becoming water-logged when tied up, etc. The tragedy on the Susquehanna March 20, 1937, when a group of old rivermen who attempted to run a raft down the stream, lost their lives after the craft smashed up on a bridge pier was recalled, and other highlights of the early rafting days on the Allegheny were reviewed for the benefit of the guests. It was one of the methods adopted by Ed Honhart to show his appreciation for the assistance received by a large number of people in carrying out his dream of "floating a raft upstream" in the celebration parade, and proved a delightful evening for everyone in attendance.

This "N That: Birthday congratulations to Council President Bill Rice, who will be blowing out candles and cutting cake tomorrow. . . . We are in receipt of a request to give publicity to the gala days to be staged by Chautauque County Volunteer Firemen's Fraternity, Inc., at their grounds in Stockton Saturday and Sunday, to be featured by merchandise auctions, band concerts, baseball games, water battles and fireworks with the annual firemen's parade scheduled for Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. . . . For a few days, it is expected, we'll be printing additions to the list of names of local people attending the Charles-Walcott fight in Pittsburgh tonight, the latest of these being Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fazio, of this city. . . . We are reminded it would probably be helpful if we would publicize the fact that Leo O. Mourer is chairman of the reservations committee for the firemen's convention to be held in Youngsville next month. . . . The Corry-Columbus Boy Scout drum and bugle corps which appeared in the Fourth of July parade here was awarded second prize in the firemen's parade competition at Watsburg last week, and it is also announced that the unit will compete next at Clarendon on August 4 during the Old Home Week celebration there. . . . Late blight, dread killer of tomatoes and potatoes, has made its first appearance in Pennsylvania this year according to plant pathologists at State College, who report the disease has been discovered in a tomato field in Adams county. . . . Ben White, of Dickie-Ben Speedway, Starbuck, in announcing his severance of relations with the Erie Auto Racing Association, says hereafter all races will be open to drivers of modified stock cars of all ages, of American makes, including drivers of all auto racing associations, professional and non-professional. . . . A capacity audience is expected at the amphitheater this evening for the Chautauque Symphony Orchestra's annual All-Gershwin pop concert. . . . The annual meeting and picnic of the McKean County Motor Club will be held at Wildcat Park, Ludlow, Saturday afternoon and evening, August 4. . . . Residents of Crescent Park between the bridge and the hospital have been a little perturbed over the presence of a genus spillole that is making appearance almost nightly in that area. . . . The Rev. G. Hall Todd, of the Arch Street Presbyterian church, Philadelphia, spending his vacation in Warren visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Todd, Fourth avenue, is having a busy time greeting old friends and neighbors. . . . Lutheran Leagues from three districts of the Augustana Lutheran churches, Wilcox, Warren and Williamsport, are spending a week at Camp Cornplanter, between Kinzua and Kane, with Dr. Victor Pearson, professor of religion, Augustana College, as Bible teacher; the Rev. Anders Hanson, as missionary teacher.

The use of gloves was known even to the prehistoric cave dwellers, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

WASHINGTON COLUMN ★

Is Administration for It? Then Congress Is Agin It
BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—It's a completely unpredictable, run-away Congress. More so than perhaps ever before. Trying to figure out why the Congress is doing some of the things it has done in extending price control legislation is a completely frustrating experience. Only one general observation can be made. Anything that President Truman or any of his officials recommend is opposed, by a majority of the congressmen, even if the recommendation is obviously good. Relations between the White House and Capitol Hill are that bad. It is a completely chaotic situation.

What is coming out of Congress now seems to be entirely the result of individual lawmakers' own convictions. A healthy majority of them seem to be thinking pretty much alike and viewing the world through the same window. This majority is composed of nearly all the Republicans and Southern Democrats.

VETERAN observers of congressional high jinks shake their heads and admit they have never seen anything like it. There is no leadership worthy of the name in either house of Congress.

Power of the Republican-Southern Democrat combination is best illustrated in Minnesota Republican August Anderson's amendment to bar importation of foreign butter, fats and oils if there are U. S. surpluses.

On its face, this looked like a dairy lobby job. But what was not emphasized is that the Anderson amendment also included bans on imports of rice, peanuts and soybeans. They were put in to get the southern farm bloc vote. It is old-fashioned legislative log-rolling and mutual back-scratching. Incidentally, it was passed without a recorded vote.

One of the main arguments in its favor was that there was no sense in having the government pay support prices on U. S. fats and oils production if foreign imports were cheaper. This makes sense as far as it goes.

The obvious remedy, however, would be to repeal the whole farm price support program, to save the taxpayers money and reduce prices to consumers. If farmers and farm product processors want free markets, without artificial controls, the place to begin would be to abolish all price supports, which are artificial controls to keep prices up. But nobody mentioned that.

What you have here, therefore, is an artificial, international trade barrier. It is a virtual high tariff written into a price-control law. As a legislative monstrosity, it probably has no equal.

IN about the same class is Kansas Republican Rep. Cliff Hove's amendment banning livestock slaughtering quotas. This is also a pick-up from the Senate-passed price control measure, so it will probably stick. Office of Price Stabilization officials say that what that amendment will probably do is guarantee black markets.

Essence of the quota system is the licensing of all slaughterers. In World War II the number of slaughterers rose to 26,000. Half of them were black market. OPA didn't move in to license them till late in the war. This is a principal reason why the black market got out of hand then.

This time, Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle moved in early to license slaughterers and keep out the black marketers. OPS thus held the number of licensed slaughterers to 12,000 legitimate operators.

What the quota system is intended to do is merely to see that available supplies of meat animals are divided equitably among the licensed slaughterers. It would prevent livestock raisers and feeders from selling to the black market slaughter houses.

American Meat Institute, the packers' trade association, said the quota system is necessary, if there are any price controls. Mr. DiSalle has said often that price controls could not be effective unless there were quotas and licenses.

Disregarding this pressure from the meat industry and the Price Administrator, Congress banned the quota system. So what you have is a black market built into the price control law.

Chapter 2

GEORGE DRUMMOND, Betsy's father always walked home to lunch, and today, as he came near the gate set in the picket fence, he saw Betsy coming from the opposite direction. He stopped to wait for her, a warm glow about his heart, as there always was at the sight of her.

Betsy saw her father at the gate and flung up her hand in salute. But the unhappy look was still in her eyes. He dropped his arm about her shoulders and they went side by side up the walk.

"My, but you're a busy little gad-about," George teased. "Just getting home to lunch—and here your old man's put in a hard day already!"

"I went out to see Professor Hartley," Betsy told him. "He's training a pup for me."

"Training a pup? For what, if I may ask?"

Betsy's teeth touched her lower lip, but she made herself answer him steadily.

"You know he has one of the Seeing-Eye dogs from that place in New Jersey—well, there's a pup that he's training for me, to give Pete when he comes home."

"Oh, I see. Well, that's a pretty fine thing for Hartley to do—and you, too."

"I don't need this one, and Pete does," she said, running ahead up the steps and into the house.

When George came into the dining room, she was already at the table, and Edith was talking to her, while old Esther came in with the roast.

"Miss Edith," demanded Esther, with the freedom of one who is practically a member of the family, "did you know we're going to have neighbors next door?"

Edith looked up. "You mean in the Cunningham place?"

"Yes'm."

"So the old Cunningham place has been sold?" mused George, puzzled. "Funny I didn't hear anything about it."

"I don't think she bought the place, Pops," said Betsy, unexpectedly. "She told me she had rented it for a year—and she was going to live here. Then she looked funny and said, 'If you can call it living!'"

"You know her, Betsy?" asked Edith, surprised.

Betsy was feeling her way cautiously about the room.

"Well, I don't exactly know her. I met her this morning, that's all. Her name is Marcia Eldon and she's—well, she's pretty snazzy-looking."

"Where did you meet her, dear?" asked Edith.

"In the old carriage house," Betsy's young face stiffened a little with the bitterness of the memory.

"She looked up at her father, her eyes brimming with tears. 'Please—may I go now, Dad? I don't seem to be very hungry.'"

"Of course," said George, and let her escape.

"Remember what a cute baby she was? And how uncomplicated?" He sighed. "If only they didn't have to grow up!"

"That's treason!" Edith tried to send him off with a laugh. "You know you love her better every day and the greatest thrill of our lives has been to watch her grow up."

"Grow up, yes, but not to see her smash herself to bits about something like this Marshall thing."

"Maybe Pete will bring home a bride, and Betsy will realize that she was in love with a dream-man, and not Pete at all," said Edith. "After all, she's very young."

shoe pitching may be enjoyed by those who wish to participate, and there are numerous slides, swings and see-saws for the children. Appropriate prizes will be awarded the winners of the general sports events and awards will be given the youngest child of an employee and the oldest annuitant in attendance.

Wildcat Park, one of the beauty spots in northwestern Pennsylvania, is well equipped with facilities to accommodate the large

"Maybe," said George. WHEN he had gone, she sighed and turned toward the stairs. It did not occur to her to knock at Betsy's closed door. She simply turned the knob and pushed it open. She paused on the threshold, appalled at what she saw.

Betsy, a thick black bandage tied tightly about her eyes, was feeling her way cautiously about the room. She was so absorbed in what she was doing that she was not aware that the door had opened until she heard her mother's exclamation of surprise.

"Betsy! What on earth are you doing?"

Betsy whirled and tugged at the bandage, but she had knotted it so tightly that it would not come off easily. When it did, she faced her mother, flushed and angry.

"I didn't hear you knock, Mother."

Edith ignored that. "What is all this, Betsy?" she demanded. "Some idiotic game?"

"Betsy burst out. 'I can't see that it's anybody's business if I try to—to understand something about what it means to be blind.'"

Edith felt a little chill. "I don't understand you any more," she confessed, helplessly. "You were never engaged to Peter. Why were you just a youngster when he went away?"

"I've been in love with him since I was twelve years old," Betsy stated flatly, giving her mother a look that was almost hostile. "And I'll be in love with him until the day I die!"

The young voice shook with such a passionate intensity that Edith was taken aback.

"Has he ever asked you to marry him?" she probed.

"Oh, no. He doesn't even know I'm in love with him. And I'm pretty sure he's not in love with me. But that's not important. Don't you see, Mother? It's going to be a disaster. He's going to come home blind, and have people staring at him, and feeling sorry for him. I can help him. Can't you understand that?"

No amount of argument or cajoling could swerve her from that point. When at last Edith had to admit defeat and go back downstairs, she felt as though she had suffered a physical beating. She was sore and bruised and a little frightened.

Educator States Mooseheart Is Way Ahead of Times

According to the "Moose News Service" sheet for July, the Mooseheart, Ill., educational program is fifty years ahead of times, if we are to take the word of one of the nation's most prominent educators and school administrators, Dr. Herold C. Hunt, superintendent of the Chicago public schools.

Dr. Hunt recently stated that in all probability children will start to school when they are three years old—by the year 2000. For the past decade, the residents of the Loyal Order of Moose "Child City" have been enrolling in the community's nursery school at that age.

After two years in nursery school, the youngsters "graduate" to kindergarten with all of the frills and furbelows, scholastic ratings and achievement tests of a high school or college commencement. They have their class play, prom, Baccalaureate services, Valedictorian, Salutatorian, Commencement Speaker, and presentation of diplomas.

It is always a thrilling sight to see these five-year-olds, attired in their traditional white caps and gowns, seriously go about the business of graduating into kindergarten. The little boys even have the privilege of selecting their favorite little girl to which they will present their "Bids" for the miniature prom.

Specially engraved diplomas are treasured by the tots' mothers, if they are also residents of Mooseheart, and by the Moose Lodges from whose jurisdiction they entered the "Child City."

The nearly 1,000 residents of this unusual "Child City" are dependent sons and daughters of Moose members. The community is a city complete in every detail, having its own post office, bank, department stores, barber shop, beauty shop, fire department, theater, a "Children's Cathedral," grocery, meat store, garage, filling station, and farm. Mooseheart even has its own railroad, a $5,000 scale model, which serves to teach the seniors railroading and electronics.

She's Got That Common Yen
To 'Get Away From It All'

A BADGERED housewife asks me: "Do all housewives sometimes get the feeling that they'd give anything in the world just to get away from it all for a few days—to some quiet spot, far removed from the children's fights, the constant demands of 'Mommy do this and 'Mommy do that,' the eternal struggle to make a home happy for a family that often seems bent on doing everything possible to make that job nearly impossible?"

Maybe not all of them. But probably more than ever admit it. So don't be ashamed of that feeling of wanting to get out from under responsibility—if it only comes after some long, hard struggle. The job of caring for a family can get pretty hard for the woman who never has a chance to get away from unending responsibility. Sometimes it may get so difficult that she does think it would be wonderful to get out from under all the responsibility, the confusion the endless demands.

TRY THE NEXT BEST THING

IT'S too bad that when a woman gets to feeling that way, it isn't always possible for her to get clear away and take a little breathing spell. But since it isn't, try doing the next best thing. Try to see if you can't get some relief from the "endlessness" of it all at home. Tell your husband frankly how you feel and see if he can't help you work out some way to get a day a week off for a while, even if it means that he takes over for you on that day. It's not right to yourself or to your family to keep going without any stop when you've reached the point you have. Even a little time away from it all will probably lighten the load tremendously and get you into a better frame of mind. Don't feel sorry for yourself, or blame yourself, or take out your frustration on your family. Just tell them all that Mommy needs a vacation—and see if you can't get some kind of one.

MENU SUGGESTIONS

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

WE tried both of these easy-on-the-budget mealtime dishes the other day. Everyone liked them. Maybe your family will, too.

Tomatoes Stuffed With Corn (8 servings)

Eight medium-size tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 tablespoon quick-cooking tapioca, 2 cups cooked whole kernel corn, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Cut off tops of tomatoes and scoop out pulp, leaving about 1/4 inch on sides and bottom. Place pulp in a well-greased one-quart heat-resistant glass utility dish. Mix together salt and sugar and sprinkle 1/4 teaspoon of it into each tomato. Add rest of salt and sugar, together with tapioca, to tomato pulp.

Arrange tomatoes in tomato pulp in utility dish. Fill tomatoes with corn. Place cubes of butter on corn and tomato pulp. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes, or until corn is hot and tomatoes are tender.

Scrambled Eggs With Cream (6 servings)

Creole Sauce: Two and one-half cups cooked tomatoes (one No. 3 can), 1/4 cup diced celery, 3 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1/4 cup cold water.

Cook tomatoes, celery, green pepper, onion, salt and cayenne in saucepan over low direct heat about 15 minutes, or until vegetables are tender. Moisten cornstarch in the cold water, stir into sauce and cook about eight to ten minutes or until sauce is thickened.

Scrambled Eggs: Six eggs, 6 tablespoons milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine.

Beat eggs and milk together; add salt. Melt butter or margarine in a 1 1/2-quart heat-resistant glass saucepan. Add eggs and cook over very low direct heat until thick, stirring occasionally. Serve sauce over scrambled eggs.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Stewed blackberries, shredded wheat, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, marmalade, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Tomatoes stuffed with corn, whole-wheat bread, butter or fortified margarine, fresh fruit cup, tea, milk.

DINNER: Scrambled eggs with creole sauce, crisp bacon or fried ham, corn on cob, hot enriched rolls, butter or fortified margarine, sliced peaches, cookies, coffee, milk.

From Bloomers to Bikinis

By the 1910's, there'd been a few changes. Arms were being shown that season, clear up to the shoulders, as you can see at left. It was probably the first time some men ever knew that young girls had shoulders. Get that hat! Passing on, we note that from the side, the 1910 miss was a mighty attractive number. She had all the allure of a—well, of a 1910 bathing beauty. This girl is very daring for her day—no hat, no sleeves, no stockings—wow! Don't get the idea that they were all daring, however. The next picture shows a prim miss who kept her bonnet tied and her pantaloons on and her stockings pulled up and her sneakers laced. She was a very good little girl. And so was this exotic lass, at right, of the same era. She shows a little knee—but it's a well-stockinged knee. The sandals were the latest thing in 1914, and so was the rakish beret-type hat. All very chic.

LAKEWOOD SUICIDE
Jamestown Sun: Carl G. Page, 42, Shadyside Road, Route 1, Lakewood, was found dead in his home at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday. Coroner Samuel Bowers issued a verdict of suicide and set the date of death as the evening of July 12. The body was discovered by Lucian J. Warren, Jamestown realtor, while showing the property to a prospective buyer. Warren told State police who investigated that he and a client were looking through a kitchen window when he saw the body dressed in pajamas and bath robe lying on the floor. Sgt. C. H. Lee, Westfield barracks, said Warren had first slashed his wrists with a razor blade and then shot himself in the temple with a 22-caliber rifle. Bowers set the time of death as last Thursday evening because newspapers dated since Friday were lying on the porch and lights were on in the kitchen. The coroner said the man had been separated from his wife for a short while and was attempting to sell the place to make a financial settlement.

No. 4 Sheffield C. of C. To Hold Meetings In the Legion Home

Sheffield, July 18—At the meeting of the Sheffield Chamber of Commerce held in the Odd Fellows hall the group was notified by the American Legion post of Sheffield that the Chamber's regular meetings could be held at the Legion home without charge.

This invitation was gratefully accepted with a meeting planned for next Tuesday evening at 8 at the Legion home.

The by-laws which had been revised were read and accepted at the meeting Monday. Of particular importance in the revision was the change made regarding membership. Membership is now open to all citizens of Sheffield over the age of 18 years and to any firm or corporation.

A determined effort is to be put forth for the enrolling of members.

There was also discussion on securing industry for Sheffield but the general consensus of opinion indicated the town needed a physical uplift in the way of repairing streets, cleaning up of vacant lots, painting and modernization of buildings, etc., before new industry could be secured.

The Sheffield Civic association has planned an ice cream social for 7:30 p. m., Saturday, June 23, at Memorial playground. Proceeds will benefit the local playground.

Tom Sanford and Ken Boardman are in charge of the social. Eight women from each of the Parent-Teacher associations in Sheffield will assist.

Persons desiring to donate cakes for the affair are asked to telephone Mrs. Milton Danielson or Kenneth Boardman.

TODAY is pay day for all the folks who have classified ads.

DRIVER HAS CLOSE CALL

Joseph Wojtowicz, 67, of R. D. 3, Spartansburg, had a narrow brush with death when his jeep crashed through guard rails and overturned down an embankment, planning him underneath. The accident occurred about 8 o'clock Saturday night on the Garland-Tidoute road five miles from Garland. The driver was treated in the emergency room of the Titusville Hospital but there was practically nothing wrong with him outside of a few bruises and cuts, but he may not be able to work for several days because of a slightly wrenched back. Mr. Wojtowicz was making a right turn on the winding road when the vehicle went out of control. He was thrown out as the jeep flipped over in mid-air, then it landed on him. For several minutes he was pinned underneath the machine. Although dazed by the impact, he managed to extricate himself and crawled out from under the jeep. A passing motorist brought him to the hospital. The vehicle was virtually demolished in the accident, relatives said.

DEAF AND DUMB JAPANESE KIDS HEAR MUSIC FOR THE FIRST TIME

FRONT ROW SEATS—Every youngster loves to watch a parade and these two cub-sitters, wearing fezzes, have the choice seats on New York's Fifth Avenue as they watch the colorful Shriners Parade. The children are Pat Shmidt, four, and her brother, Dick, six, of Newark, N. J., and they'd come across the Hudson River to see one of the parades held during the Shriners Convention.

READY TO SAIL—Flying the U. S. flag, the Italian training ship Amerigo Vespucci rides at anchor in the harbor at Leghorn before sailing for the U. S. on a training cruise. Cadets line the ship which was named for the man after whom the Americas were titled, and which will visit Annapolis, Boston and New York for the first time since 1935.

SMELLING THEM OUT—Three German shepherd dogs, newly arrived in Korea from Fort Riley, Kans., where they were trained to smell out the Reds as an aid to patrols on scouting missions, are being given a workout. Left to right are: Pfc. Edwin Bristol, Lincoln, Neb., with Hamlet; Pfc. Larry Pollard, Detroit, with Orrin, and Pfc. Houda L. Green, Kansas City, Mo., with Barrie.

IN GOOD SHAPE AGAIN—Two years from the day she miraculously survived a plane crash that claimed 40 lives near Chatsworth, Calif., in 1949, doctors told actress Karen Marsh that she can resume her career. Karen is shown sunning herself in a hotel pool in Las Vegas, Nev., enjoying a belated honeymoon after her marriage a few months ago to Bill Doll, a New York publicist.

MUSIC TO THEIR EARS—These Japanese youngsters, students at the Nippon Deaf and Dumb School in Tokyo, enjoy a real treat as they listen to music for the first time in their lives. They were able to hear the music by using the group-acousticon, one of seven such machines presented to the school by the SCAP in Tokyo.

WORKING IN COMFORT—While he perches nonchalantly atop a 1000-pound bomb, Photographer's Mate Herbert C. Hahn does some sketching aboard a Navy ship in Korean waters. A combat artist who came to the Navy via the Army, Hahn is recording Naval action with his drawings as he helps to document the Navy's important role in the Korean War. (U. S. Navy Photo from Acme.)

LIKE A GOLDFISH BOWL—Mr. Bruin, a bear at the Vincennes Zoo in Paris, is annoyed because he just can't take a comfortable sun bath without a bunch of odd human beings looking on. At the moment he's undoubtedly telling a few of them in plain bear language how stupid he thinks they are to stand around all day staring at every move he makes.

BLASTING POWER—A service station in Bloomfield, N. J., is a scene of devastation rivaling that of war-torn Seoul in Korea, after being smashed by a petroleum tank that exploded in Newark. The tank was carried more than half a mile by the force of the blast, and made a complete shambles of the filling station which had only recently been opened.

CONVERTIBLE—Designer Herbert Sidon has introduced this black silk barthea in London. The three-piece dress consists of a strapless sheath, long-sleeved, mandarin-collared jacket and a peplum that wraps about the waist or buttons to the hem to lengthen the gown.

EXTENDING A WELCOME—TV's Howdy Doody is extending a hand of welcome to a small marionette which has arrived in New York as advance man for the Salzburg, Austria, Marionette Theater. Dr. Franz Matsch, Austrian Consul-General in Manhattan, is also present to make his puppet countryman feel at home before it starts out on a tour of the U. S. The Marionette Theater specializes in Mozart productions and this will be its first time over here.

SPORT NEWS

FRESHMEN—The Cardinals may not be coming up with as many bright young men as the St. Louis Nationals once did, but this year's peagreens are a remarkable pair of right-hand pitchers, Joe Presko, left, and Tom Poholsky. Presko, 22, and on the small side, just rejoined the Red Birds following a tonsillectomy, performed to cure a sore arm. Poholsky, 21, is six feet three, weighs 205 pounds. (NEA)

One-Run Margins Highlight Junior Baseball Battles

Fadale's abashed Glade A. C., 1-0, in a tight Hot Stove Junior Baseball League scrap at the Upper Conewago field last night.

In another Junior League scrap at the Clarendon field, Clarendon edged Keystone Garage, 4-3.

Zingone was on the mound for Fadale's, with Heffernan behind the plate. Zingone fanned four men, and yielded only four hits.

Smith started on the hill for Glade A. C., with Thompson taking over in the fourth. Both Smith and Thompson had four strikeouts and they yielded four hits between them.

Fadale's lone run came in the fourth frame on a walk, a hit, and an error on the relay from the outfield to the catcher.

Clarendon opened its game with Keystone with one run in the first frame. Keystone then forged ahead with a three-run spurge in the fourth frame and held the lead until the final inning when the home team punched across three runs to win.

Crossley handled the pitching for Clarendon, giving up four hits, allowing no walks and striking out seven batters.

Pearson was the hurler for Keystone Garage. He yielded five safes, walked one batter, and was credited with seven strikeouts.

Pittsburgh, July 18 — (AP)—A threat of late evening showers hung over the outdoor Ezzard Charles-Jersey Joe Walcott heavy-weight championship fight as the gladiators sweated out the hours for their third title clash at 9 p. m. (EST) tonight.

This is Pittsburgh's first heavy-weight title scrap and the Forbes Field card has caught on big in the Smoky City. The only answer to the unusual stir over this road show is Charles. The 30-year-old Cincinnati negro considers this his second home town and his appearance here in defense of his crown is a fulfillment of an old promise.

Otherwise the future would be difficult to understand. Lean Ezzard, in the sharpest condition of his life, is a 4 to 1 favorite in a very light betting market to whip the 37-year-old perennial challenger as decisively as he did in their other collisions in Chicago and Detroit.

The promoting McGinley-Roon-Bald, 5 Company already has over $154,000 in the till and a crowd of 20,000 is expected to contribute over $175,000 for the 15-rounder. The bout is being telecast over a 49-station hookup by the Dumont network and will be broadcast by CBS. Pittsburgh and nearby Johnstown, Pa., will be cut out of the telecast.

In the event of a postponement, the bout will be staged tomorrow.

Cubs Defend Deal for Pafko; They Needed Edwards, Miksis

NEW YORK — (NEA)—When the Cubs dealt Andy Pafko to the Dodgers, practically everybody agreed that Wid Matthews should don the dunce cap, and go to the high chair in the front left-hand corner of the room.

Pafko, Terwilliger, Schmitz and Walker moved from Wrigley to Ebbets Field in exchange for Bruce Edwards, Miksis, Hermanski and Hatten.

I said nearly everyone was of the opinion that Philip K. Wrigley's front office pulled another skull, something for which it has become notorious in connection with swaps down through the years. Among the comparative handful of dissenters, it develops, are the Cubs themselves.

"You have to give something to get something," says Dutch Leonard. "We needed this fellow here," and the 41-year-old butterfly bowler pointed to Edwards. The latter was the best catcher in the circuit until Roy Campanella dislodged him.

Eddie Miksis stepped in at second base, and with the return of Roy Smalley, the Cubs have a Grade A double-play combination for the first time in a long while.

THE only question about Miksis is his hitting, and in Brooklyn the big kid from Burlington, N. J., had little opportunity to demonstrate his ability along that line. Leonard and Edwards believe he'll hit. He has batted .290 hitting behind runners since he joined the Wrigleys.

Pafko, to their way of thinking, was the only one of importance they gave up. Currently out with blood swelling behind his left knee, Handy Andy, a highly-accomplished flycatcher who played third base, has been a home-run manufacturer and an excellent team man, but he wasn't hitting and helping the Cubs.

Not much worse off in the standings than the Reds, Phillies and Braves, the Cubs attribute their plight solely to the loss of three athletes who figured prominently in Frank Frisch's plans.

The season was hardly two weeks old before Smalley broke his leg. Bill Serena's broken wrist is still in a cast. There went the left side of the infield.

Shortstop Smalley hit 21 home runs betting in 85 runs last season. Third Baseman Serena had 17 homers driving in 61 runs in 127 games. With the Cubs, it was simply a case of an outfit that could least afford to lose a star.

PONY LEAGUE

By The Associated Press

Jamestown was back in first place in the PONY League today, thanks to two home runs by Bob Szabo and Dick Burt.

Their blows accounted for all of Jamestown's runs as the Falcons beat Wellsville, 3-1, last night.

The Falcons can also thank the Bradford Phils who came from behind and edged Olean, 4-3, in 10 innings.

Hornell took a doubleheader from Batavia, 5-3 and 9-7. The wins moved the Dodgers to within 2½ games of Olean and three games off the pace.

Hamilton beat Corning, 1-0, in a pitchers' duel that saw each pitcher give up four hits. Enzo Zanatta, who struck out nine, was the winner over Carroll Berger.

Bradford pushed across two runs in the eighth to tie Olean and went on to win in the 10th. Bob Warholle tripled and scored on Paul Farrell's single.
